EARN GRADUATE/CONTINUING EDUCATION CREDITS

Teachers never stop learning—probably because there is always so much more to know, especially when it comes to technology in the classroom. That’s why we’ve created a customizable, creative professional development program designed to help educators unite their curricula and teaching styles with classroom technology.

Seattle Pacific University has partnered with Promethean’s ActivLearning to offer graduate credit for our online courses and workshops in order to assist you with earning continuing education credits. Quarter hour credits are offered based on the date in which the course started. Course completion is graded on a pass/no credit scale, with exceptions honored by request for letter grades.

Each quarter hour is equivalent to 10 professional development hours; One quarter hour is equivalent to 2/3 of one semester hour.

All courses are $50 per credit hour.
